Teen & Young Adult Panel: Stories of Living and Learning Without School

A panel of teens and young adults will discuss their experiences creating a non-traditional high school education. Their stories show that teens can take greater control of their learning by leaving traditional school and that every path, including college or career, is still open to them.

Each panelist will tell their story, followed by Q&A.

Free and open to the public. Teens welcome. 609-851-2522
